My History Project

I hope Mrs. Martin will be lenient when grading my project. I tried to be obedient in doing my homework, but it was just too inconvenient to finish my history project on time.

I forgot it was due until ten o'clock last evening. Then I fell over the lamp cord while hunting for glue and scissors.

I ran out of Popsicle sticks before I was through, so there is a big hole in my space station. Toward the end, I heard Mom pray, "Give me patience, Lord."

Mom hopes I will learn an important lesson from this experience.
