

Lesson 4

READ THESE SENTENCES

Read silently, then read aloud with good phrasing.

1. Susan Barton gave up her managerial position to pursue her passion, which was helping people with dyslexia improve their literacy skills.
2. My controversial grandmother says dusting all the colonial furniture in her cottage is a trivial and nonessential task.
3. Marian's superb secretarial skills and gracious attitude helped offset her supervisor's dictatorial behavior.
4. The conspiratorial tone of the teenagers' conversation made me suspect they were planning some sort of antisocial activity.
5. Frank's inability to solve differential equations prevented him from getting his credential as a professional engineer.
6. During the industrial revolution, huge factories were erected with assembly lines that eliminated all nonessential tasks.