

Lesson 3

READ THESE SENTENCES

Read to yourself, then read aloud with good phrasing.

- 1. Occasional use of cough suppressant syrup does not require a prescription.
- 2. The obstinate composer proved to be a worthy chess opponent.
- 3. Meg had attended ten occupational therapy sessions, but the legibility of her handwriting was still inconsistent.
- 4. The suspicious instructor lost her composure when she found sufficient evidence that some students were cheating on the final exam.
- 5. Although he ran unopposed, the mayor insisted he had won the election by a large margin.
- 6. The apartment's only occupant nearly suffocated when he choked while swallowing his vitamin supplements.
- 7. Dr. Grant observed Frank's significant obsessive-compulsive behavior, but Mom insisted that Frank was just persistent.