Gail's Appendix

Gail is a volunteer at the hospital. Today she doesn't feel well. She is dizzy and may faint. There is a pain low in her abdomen.

The doc says he'll try to identify the problem. He tells her it could be her appendix.

It's strange to lay there under a cold sheet. It's a strain to wait. Gail is afraid. She is glad there's a volunteer to be with her and hold her hand.
