

Lesson 6
READ THIS STORY #1, Advanced

A Nickel

Once, if you spent a nickel or two, you could get a novel that told of love and lust and scandal.

In the plot there would be an evil rascal who wasn't very civil. He would lock a pretty damsel in a chapel. There would be a shot from his pistol as he went to rob a bank.

She would toll the bell as a signal and summon a gallant Texan. He would gallop past the cactus in the canyon and catch that evil devil.

In the end, the Texan and the damsel would gallop off into the sunset.