A Cheerful Child

Our child, Josh, is cheerful and helpful when he is with the family, but with others, he is painfully shy.

Thoughtless people frequently comment on his timidness. That's regretful, because it makes his shyness a bigger problem.

If people had kindness, they would just accept him as someone who watches until he is confident.

As his mom, I am thankful that he's not a reckless and brash child.
