Talented Painter

Rosa has a passion for painting. Her friends are impressed with her talent and ambition.

It is difficult for a new painter to get attention from critics. When she submitted her entry to a competition, she had some apprehension about what they would say. The Daily News posted a glowing description of the show. They called her a gifted young painter with vision.

There will be a reception for her in City Hall where her paintings will be displayed. She will ask her parents and her friends to attend. It will be an occasion for celebration!
