Susan's Resolution

Susan decided to put her new resolution into practice. Her closet had no more storage space. If she had not used an item in the last year, she would donate it to the rummage sale.

Susan wouldn't salvage clothes that were too small or totally out of style. She wouldn't save things just because they had been expensive.

She hadn't fit into that blue dress since she was sixteen. She hated that gray silk dress. She looked like an elephant when she put it on. Susan liked the pink jacket, but there was no way to remove the chocolate stain on the sleeve.

When she finished, Susan was amazed that there was plenty of space in her closet.
