

Lesson 14
READ THIS STORY #2, Basic

Milton

Milton has decided that he doesn't like the taste of any vegetable except potatoes. It is quite disagreeable to sit at the table with Milton. If his mother fixes a special dish, Milton complains. He states rudely that anything unrecognizable is absolutely indigestible.

His mother thought Milton was adorable until he became so unmanageable. His father says Milton's attitude is inexcusable.

How do you think Milton should be handled?