The Missing Ring

Grace did poke her nose into the box of roasted oat flakes. On the front of the box were the words, “Prize Inside—Magic Ring.”

Where was it? Grace dumped the box of oat flakes on her plate. There wasn’t a trace of the Magic Ring.

‘Someone made a gigantic mistake,” Mom said, “but it’s not a tragedy. Why don’t you send a note to the company?’”

Grace got an answer in three weeks. Inside was a Magic Ring and a note. It said, “Please accept our sincere apology.”
