Don't Drive So Fast

Jane said, “Please don’t drive so fast! I want to be alive when I arrive at my place.” Jake gave a shrug. “You’re in no danger. I know this road like the back of my hand.”

Jane was apprehensive. Jake pushed on the pedal and sped across the railroad tracks. Jake won his race with the massive locomotive. He gave Jane a smile and said, “That was a close shave! I live for the moment.”

Jane had thought that Jake was attractive. Now Jane knew this would be their last date.
