

Lesson 6

READ THIS STORY #2, Basic

Careless Hikers

Bill and Mike were on vacation. They decided to take a hike. They had spent a lazy day doing nothing and needed some activity. It wasn't likely that they'd be in danger.

But Bill and Mike were careless. They didn't tell anyone where they were going. They also made the mistake of hiking in a strange place without asking advice or having a map.

The trail was steep and rough. As the sun began to set, Bill and Mike stepped up their pace. Mike skidded on a rock and fell, twisting his leg. It wasn't broken, but it was painful for Mike to keep moving.

Next time they would be wiser hikers.