James

It's difficult to empathize with James. He's very impulsive and doesn't think about the consequences of his actions.

It's traditional in our family to go out for brunch on Sunday. The last time we went out, James ate much too fast. I couldn't convince him to stop refilling his plate. It was scandalous.

On the way home, James complained that he had a digestive problem. He said that he had pain in his abdomen. He said, "I'm going to pop!" James likes to dramatize.
