

Lesson 9

READ THIS STORY #2, Basic

Television News

When Dad comes home from work, he switches on the television to look at the news. Sometimes I want to shut my eyes because it is so depressing.

I wish the news wouldn't emphasize all of the global problems. They dramatize tragic events and publicize brutal conduct. Why do they always focus on all of the awful things that have happened?

Dad says that there is plenty of good news that could be passed along. It just doesn't capture the attention of the public. I say, "It's time for a change!"